

use his Nashville speech to his immediate constituents, which disproves all these charges. I would next use his evidence, given on oath, before a celebrated select committee of the House, when and where he was, after being first sworn to tell the whole truth, minutely interrogated as to his knowledge of Executive frauds, corruptions, or usurpations, and in answer thereto fully acquitted not only the Executive himself, but all of the Heads of Departments, of any such charge or imputation. If, then, these foul charges had the least foundation in fact, my colleague did not, as he was bound to do by the solemnity of his oath, tell the whole truth. But, sir, the conduct and character of General Jackson needs no defence; his great public services, both in the field and in the cabinet, constitute the brightest page in the history of his country. He, sir, who is now in the evening of his days, who has one foot in the grave, and the other on the threshold, has served his country in various stations, from that of a private in the Revolutionary war to that of Major General in the late war, and Chief Magistrate of this nation, and against whose public or official acts, his vilest enemies cannot point to the first act of corruption, or of intentional error, needs no defence from me.

"Mr. Chairman, I do not object to my colleague's leaving his old Democratic party and friends, and going over to the Opposition. Let him go. If he has changed his opinions, and is now satisfied that the course of policy which he has heretofore pursued is destructive of the best interests and prosperity of the country, I would say he has done right. But, sir, I complain of his assigning reasons for his change of party and principles which have no foundation in fact. It is the charging of his former party and political friends with corruptions, and designing to undermine and subvert this Government, that I complain. I would inquire, was my colleague honest in his principles and course when he acted with this party? If so, he should have charity to believe that the party are still governed by the same honest motives which then governed him. One thing is certain, and that is, the reasons he assigns for his sudden political summer are not the true reasons for his change. Men act from motive. The motive which produced this sudden and unaccountable conversion of his apparent devotion to both men and principles to bitter hatred, is a question for him and the country to determine. Was it produced by the power and influence of the United States Bank? Did he receive accommodations from this institution to such an extent as to produce this, or was it a thirst for office and self-aggrandisement that caused him to alienate and abandon his former party and friends, and to throw himself into the arms and embraces of his former political adversaries? These are questions which I leave the gentleman and the country to determine."

NORTHERN FRONTIER.

A schooner belonging to Mr. Chrysler of Niagara, laden with merchandise, has been captured by a band of pirates. It is reported that the pirates have again raised the standard of revolt, 400 having assembled in the western district of the Upper Province. This is doubtful. Major Webb, a British officer, commanding opposite to Black Rock, was insulted and maltreated a short time since, while on a visit to Buffalo, by some worthless fellows. The Court of General Session, being in session, called for a Special Grand Jury, on motion of the District Attorney, for a prompt investigation of the outrage. It is the intention of the United States government to employ an armed steamboat on Lake Erie, and also on Lake Ontario. Great excitement prevails in Canada, and on the U. S. frontier, in consequence of the recent outrages.

POST OFFICES IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Established.—Avery Grove, Lenoir co. Wm. C. Loftin, P. M.; Millville, Rowan co. Alexander Holshonser, P. M.; Alston's Store, Wake co. Wm. Alston, P. M.

Appointments.—Jno. S. Eaton, Linbank, Granville co.; Wm. W. Allison, Cedar Grove, Orange co.; William C. Bettencourt, to be Deputy Postmaster at Wilmington, from and after the 30th inst. in the place of Christopher Dudley resigned.

ANOTHER DISASTER.

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser of the 15th inst. states that the new and elegant steamboat Washington, was destroyed by fire, at 3 o'clock on the morning of that day, off Silver Creek, about three miles from the city of Buffalo. The steamboat North America came up about 3 hours after the Washington took fire.

On nearing the spot, about 6 o'clock, the burning hull of the large and noble boat was found drifting over the waters, three or four miles from shore, not a living human being on board. The lake was literally covered with hats, bonnets, trunks, baggage, and blackened fragments of the wreck.

The alarm had been given at Silver Creek, as soon as the flames were perceived from the shore, and all the boats which could be found, were sent to the rescue of the sufferers. There were only three skiffs, besides the yawl of the Washington, which could be thus used.

The North America took on board about forty of those saved, many of whom, including all the ladies, remained on shore. There were six dead bodies picked up on the spot—those of four children and two women. One man died of his injuries soon after reaching the shore, and one child was dead in its mother's arms when she was taken out of the water.

The loss of life is variously estimated at from 20 to 60. Many of the survivors were badly burned before they left the boat.

FOREIGN.

The steam ship Great Western, Lt. Hoskins commander, arrived in New York from Liverpool on the 17th inst. after a passage of only 14 days. The Packet ship Independence also arrived, having made the passage in 24 days.

A complimentary letter was written to the commander of the Great Western, on the arrival of that vessel in Bristol, from the United States, signed by 51 passengers, who speak of the safety, comfort and despatch of the voyage. The Great Western Steam Ship Company through their Board, express great satisfaction at the kindness and hospitality with which Capt. Hoskins and the officers of his vessel have been treated in New York, and a resolution is made to lay down the keel of a vessel of no less dimensions than the Great Western, to be named the "City of New York."

The Great Western Rail Road, that is to connect Bristol with London, was opened on the last day of May at Maidenhead.

The highly important question of immediately abolishing slavery in the British Colonies has been settled at least for the present, in the House of Commons. By the law as it now stands, Negro slaves who are house servants are to be emancipated on the 1st August next, but field laborers are to remain in servitude some years longer. The object of the abolitionists was to declare them all free at once.

A serious riot took place in Dunkirk, near Canterbury, on the 31st May, in which one Lieutenant of the 45th was killed, a captain and several of the same regiment wounded, and thirteen of the populace killed and many wounded.

The city of Dublin Company are preparing to share in the competition to transatlantic steam navigation. They propose announcing their plans immediately. We wish this enterprising company every success; and though last in the field, we do not expect they will be last in the race for fame and profit.

Prince Talleyrand, so long known as one of the greatest diplomatists and intriguers of the age, died on the 17th May.

From France, or the Continent generally, there is nothing of special importance. There is little or no change in the Cotton Market; previous prices are easily maintained.

A CAPTURE.—A friend informs us that a large Mud Turtle was caught in Wake Forest, on the 14th inst., by a gentleman of the neighborhood, at the mills of James D. Newsum, esq. measuring in length 41 inches, and weighing 37 pounds; the largest of the kind ever known to be caught in the State.

Heart-rending Catastrophe.

LOSS OF THE STEAM-PACKET PULASKI.

With a crew of 37, and 150 or 160 passengers.

Office of the Wilmington Advertiser, June 8, 1838.

On Thursday the 14th inst. the Steamer PULASKI, Capt. DUBOIS, left Charleston, for Baltimore with about 150 passengers, of whom about 50 were ladies.

At about 11 o'clock on the same night, while off the North Carolina coast, say 30 miles from land, weather moderate and night dark—the starboard boiler exploded and the vessel was lost, with all the passengers and crew except those whose names are enumerated among the saved in the list to be found below.

We have gathered the following facts from the mate, Mr. Hibbert, who had charge of the boat at the time. Mr. Hibbert states that at 10 o'clock at night he was called to the command of the boat, and that he was pacing the promenade deck in front of the steerage house. That he found himself shortly after upon the main deck lying between the mast and side of the boat—that upon the return of consciousness, he had a confused idea of having heard an explosion, something like that of gunpowder, immediately before he discovered himself in his then situation.—He was induced, therefore, to rise and walk aft, where he discovered the boat's midships was blown entirely to pieces; that the head of the starboard boiler was blown out, and the top torn open—that the timbers and plank of the starboard-side were forced asunder, and that the boat took in water whenever she rolled in that direction. He became immediately aware of the horrors of their situation, and the danger of letting the passengers know that the boat was sinking, before lowering the small boats.—He proceeded therefore to do this. Upon dropping the boat he was asked his object, and he replied it was to pass around the Steamer to ascertain her condition. Before doing this, however, he took in a couple of men. He ordered the other boats to be lowered and two were shortly put into the water, but they leaked so much in consequence of their long exposure to the sun, that one of them sunk after a fruitless attempt to bail her.

He had in the interim taken several from the water until the number made ten. In the other boat afloat there were eleven. While they were making a fruitless attempt to bail the small boat, the Pulaski went down with a dreadful crash—in about 45 minutes after the explosion. Both boats now insisted upon Mr. Hibbert's directing their course to the shore but he resisted their remonstrances; replying that he would not abandon the spot until day light. At about 3 o'clock in the morning, they started in the midst of the wailings of the hopeless beings, who were floating around in every direction, upon pieces of the wreck, to seek land which was about thirty miles distant. After pulling about 13 hours, the persons in both boats became tired and insisted that Mr. Hibbert should land; this he opposed, thinking it safest to proceed along the coast and to enter some one of its numerous inlets, but he was at length forced to yield to the general desire, and to attempt a landing upon the beach, a little East of Stump Inlet. He advised Mr. Cooper, of Ga., who had command of the other boat, and a couple of ladies, with two children under his charge, to wait until his boat had first landed as he apprehended much danger in the attempt, and should they succeed, they might assist him and the ladies and children. There were eleven persons in the mate's boat, (having taken two black women from Mr. Cooper's.) Of these, two passengers, one of the crew, and the two negro women were drowned, and six gained the shore. After waiting for a signal, which he received from the mate, Mr. Cooper and his companions landed in about three hours after the first boat in safety. They then proceeded a short distance across Stump Sound, to Mr. Ridd's, of Oaslow county, where they remained from Friday evening until Sunday morning, and then started for Wilmington. The mate and two passengers reached here this morning (18th June) about 9 o'clock.

Thus we have hurriedly sketched the most painful catastrophe that has ever occurred upon the American coast. Youth, age, and infancy have been cut off in a single night, and found a common death under the same billow.

"Days, months, years and ages will circle away, And still the vast waters will over their roll."

We have never seen a deeper sensation pervade our community than the reception of this intelligence has produced. The profoundest sympathy is engendered on every countenance, and all wear the aspect of those sorrowing for their own dead. We feel assured that all feel an anxious solicitude to alleviate the distress of those unfortunate survivors who may come among us, and vehicles have already been sent out to bring them into our town, and provision made for their reception.
